

TWENTY-TWO HELD FOR THE BEATING OF POLICEMAN

Raid Made by Plain Clothes Men on Their Own Time to Avenge Comrade.

ATTACKED BY CROWD.

Reserves Arrive Just in Time to Prevent Rescue of Prisoners.

When ten plain clothes men, working on their own time, decided in the East Twenty-second street police station last night to avenge the attack made by the East House Gang Saturday night on "Terrible Terry" Smith, who had just returned to duty looking sick and pale, Capt. Frank Morris wanted them "good luck" without much hope they'd have it. When they returned at 9:30 with twenty-two gang members Capt. Morris rubbed his hands with glee. He thinks the arrests will go a long way toward making life bearable for shopkeepers on First avenue.

The ten plain clothes men had just returned from looking up registrations at addresses yesterday afternoon when Patrolman Smith slipped into the station house. He had been sent home Saturday evening after being struck on the head with a broken bottle in front of No. 414 First avenue.

The plain clothes men looked Smith over and offered sympathy. They held a consultation. "If our day's work was over, but they decided they would make a raid on the East House tonight."

A little later they saw and down on the sidewalk of Times Square, at No. 418 First avenue, snapped handcuffs on twenty-two men, and took them along for harboring two fugitives. The minors were sent to the children's hospital. The adults were taken to the station.

Despite quick work in making the arrests the plain clothes men had no easy task in getting their prisoners to the station. They were showered with bricks, in care and any misdeeds to the residents of that section. Reserves arrived in time to prevent an attempt at rescuing the mannaled toughs. When the prisoners had been put in cells more than a thousand men and women gathered in East Twenty-second street looking and blowing whistles.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the patrol wagon backed up in front of the station, and while the reserves kept the crowd back the gangsters were hauled into the wagon and hurried to Night Court.

Capt. Morris said the Magistrate would be asked to hold them as the police would be in a position to present starting evidence against them. It is presumed the evidence will deal with attacks on Smith, other policemen and shopkeepers.

There is a young married woman in New York who claims to have been married twenty years, day after day and night after night, with the same man.

It is not because she has nothing else to do to occupy her mind. It is a matter of fact that she has a husband and three children to look after. But she goes on changing her clothes twenty times a day, and is not content with two flights of stairs for every change. Who she is and who she was, she makes a most interesting magazine section feature in next Sunday's World.

GIRL AND FATHER WHO DISAPPEARED SIX MONTHS AGO.

of the hospital, station houses, morgues, charitable institutions and visited relatives and friends in New Jersey, in Staten Island and all over the city in the hope that somewhere he might find some clue to his whereabouts, or hear some tidings of what may have befallen him.

Since April 27, the day her father, Louis, left home to go to his meat market at No. 45 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, the little girl has had no rest. After a long, hard and disappointing day of seeking for her father she sits up nearly half the night waiting in vain for some one to bring word of the missing one.

"I am so afraid that something terrible has happened to father," she told an Evening World reporter.

The Streibingers were living at No.
50 West One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street when the father disappeared, but have been compelled to move to cheaper quarters. The missing man's mother, Mrs. Mary Streibinger, who lives at No. 294 Eighth avenue, has been ill ever since her son's disappearance.

after gaining recognition as the leader of the Russian constitutional reformers.
He was Marshal of the Nobility and presided over the Zemstvo Congress at Moscow in 1904.
